

CB-101

Parts Cleaner Concentrate

CB-101 is a high-detergency, alkaline cleaning compound designed for use in dip, immersion, or ultrasonic cleaning baths.

CB-101 is intended for use in the removal of coolants, machining fluids, and honing oils. It is particularly suited for precision cleaning of copper, brass, and bronze parts. Solutions will not stain or pit these metals, leaving them with a bright finish. CB-101 may also be suitable for use with various types of plastics.

Used at a concentration of 3-5%, CB-101 is an extremely effective way to remove heavy greases and oils from parts and tools. Stronger or weaker dilutions can be used depending on the severity of the soil. CB-101 is effective as an ambient temperature cleaner and it can also be used at elevated temperatures.

CB-101 is strictly a water-based material, containing no solvents. In addition, CB-101 is silicates and phosphates free.

Since CB-101 is a highly alkaline material proper precautions should be taken when handling. As with any chemical, we recommend wearing safety glasses and rubber gloves (see MSDS for further information).
